Turmoil Within

Every one wants a safe haven where he could sit in silence; Life is full of fire and fumes, no nook and corner offers him any escape from the chaos that surrounds him, the noise that never ceases.
A world that's moving fast, leaving him breathless and worn out.

In this maelstrom of emotions, he searches for a peaceful shore a place where he can anchor his soul, and calm the raging storm.
But like a mirage, it vanishes, leaving him parched and dry longing for a drop of solace, a respite from the burning sky.

In this turmoil within, he struggles to find his footing.
A sense of balance,

a glimpse of hope,
a chance to start anew
But till then, he'll wander, lost in the labyrinth of his mind, searching for a safe haven, a place to call his own, and leave his worries behind.
