

The astounding Epiphany

Sitting back to myself;
I asked, Where do you want to go?
Then, my mind started dreaming in a flow.

My eyes lit up with an intriguing light,
With my dreams and aspirations shining bright.
Then, softly my heart began to speak,
Yes, I want to reach that highest peak,
Where meagre desires, temptations don't size an iota,
Where the Divine has the biggest quota.

To that place of being
Where the self is the biggest achievement,
Where my mistakes have made me more humble,
Yes,
To that enlightened place
Will I be soulfully free.
