

Nature: The Source of Joy

Mother gave us life to spread joy,
Nature gives us strength to live in joy.
Father gave us life to thrive and grow,
Nature gives us colours that beautifully glow.
Teacher gives us a life full of light,
Nature gives us a picture of beauty bright.
God has given us life to enjoy,
Nature has given us beauty to spread joy.
From every flower and every tree,
Nature teaches us to live happy and free.
In every sunrise, in every ray,
Nature fills our hearts with joy each day.
Nature is life, nature is love,
Nature is a blessing from above.

Bionote:

Dr. Sivashankari A is a Head & Assistant Professor of English at Vallal P.T. Lee Chengalvaraya Naicker Arts & Science College, Chennai, with over 15 years of teaching experience spanning school and college education. She holds a Ph.D. in English from Alagappa University and has earned multiple academic and professional qualifications including M.A., B.Ed., M.Phil., PGD in Spoken English, and Diploma in Computer Programming.

Her academic expertise includes English Literature, Foundation English, and Soft Skills, with a strong commitment to student mentoring and innovative pedagogy. Dr. Sivashankari has served as an examiner for X, XII, and undergraduate examinations and has actively contributed as a resource person, judge, and chief guest at academic and literary events.

An active researcher, she has participated in national and international conferences, workshops, FDPs, and seminars, and has published in national journals. She has also held key academic responsibilities as an organizer, coordinator, and newsletter editor, contributing significantly to institutional development and quality initiatives.

Email : sivajothii35@gmail.com