

A Note from the Founder

Dr. Dalip Khetrapal, Founder and Executive Director, Afflatus Creations

My appreciation of young writers, especially from Tamil Nadu state or elsewhere, is therefore not simply praise for what they have already achieved. It is an acknowledgment of what they may yet become. To encourage a young voice is to nurture the literature of tomorrow.

So, to every young poet and storyteller: step forward and share the world you carry within you. Let your words speak your truth, stir an emotion, raise a question, or open a window into a world only you can see. Do not wait for permission to call yourself a writer—write, share, and let your journey begin. Afflatus Creations opens its doors to your imagination, your stories, and your dreams. Your voice matters, your words deserve to be heard, and perhaps the next unforgettable literary voice is already waiting within you.
